Congress Will Have Its Hands Full With Lobbyists

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, May 19.—(AP)—Just as regular as Christmas, there comes a time at least once a year to write about lobbyists. That's when somebody takes a crack at them or wants to suppress them or something. This is one of the times.

Yesterday the House passed a resolution to have a congressional investigation of lobbyists.

Nothing will be done, though, unless the Senate also votes for the investigation.

A couple of years ago Congress passed a law which said lobbyists had to register with Congress. This was an attempt to strike them out in the open so they could be recognized as lobbyists.

1500 Are Registered

About 1,500 are registered in the capitol as paid lobbyists. But this doesn't satisfy Rep. Sabath, Illinois Democrat, who's taken as many cracks at lobbyists as anybody.

He says about another 1,500 lobbyists—besides those registered—are running around loose, unregistered and unsmoked out.

But who is a lobbyist? He's any person or group who tries to persuade a congressman to vote his way.

There are lots of ways of lobbying. Visiting a congressman in his office, buttonholing him in the hall, having him out to dinner, testifying before a congressional committee.

Sabath says he's not against the regular representatives of organizations who need lobbyists here to get their bills passed.

But He Is Against:

1. The undercover lobbyist who lobbies without letting it be publicly known—by registering—that they're lobbyists.

2. The ones who get a chunk of dough from some one by pretending they have an "in" and can get things done in Congress.

A lobbyist could be someone paid by manufacturers, or labor unions, or landlords, or farmers to represent them here and plug their cause.

Or, as some congressmen have charged, it might be someone from a government agency who tries to work his charms on congressmen to get something the agency wants.

Goes Back on Old Friends

Or, it might be an ex-congressman, who has a client and has come back to work on his old companions in ex-congressmen do that? Sure. Anyone who's ever served in Congress can walk out on the floor any time he pleases. No matter how long it's been since he was a congressman, turned lobbyist, has a head start on any run-of-the-mine lobbyist who can get no nearer the floor than the hall outside.

Says Sabath: "One man who was a congressman 20 years ago is still coming back here. A lot of ex-congressmen are lobbying."

Much Money Spent

Says Sabath: "Millions of dollars are spent on lobbying every year. Through salaries for the lobbyists, money for their expenses, publicly they hand out, entertaining they do, and radio time the powerful lobbyist can hire."

And these lobbyists—although they seldom would want to claim to be publicly—undoubtedly have a hand in persuading congressmen to their way of thinking in the laws that are passed.

But if you write a letter to your congressman, telling him what you want, you're lobbying in a way. And a great many organizations have a legitimate right to lobby since that's one way of making their views known.

So Congress will have its hands full if it tries to solve all lobbying problems—that is, if the Senate goes along with the House in wanting to try.

Who is he?

This boy, about 15, is waiting at the juvenile detention home at Crown Point, Ind., for some one to tell him who he is. He is listed under the name of Donald Reksa and he says he knows no specific reason for the name. He told authorities at the home that he had been wandering about the midwest for about five years. Zero Locker Market 100% Blood Donors

The Zero Locker market, 102 West Main street, is the first business establishment in Sedalia to volunteer 100 per cent to be blood donors at the Bethel hospital, according to the local Red Cross chapter.

Not only has the store a 100 per cent record in this worthy cause, but the store has secured other donors. Glenn E. Lewis and Lee S. Byson are owners of the store. The employees are Florin Romig and John Fulbright.

The Red Cross and hospital appreciate the cooperation of every one on this blood drive. They are still in need of over 150 volunteers.

Hal Boyle Says

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK.—(AP)—More men than women are giving themselves a change of pace today by getting themselves a change of face.

They get a new outlook on life by going to a plastic surgeon to have an objectionable facial feature re-modeled.

"Since the war we have more men than women patients," said Dr. Gregory L. Pollock, a pioneer specialist in this form of human sculpture.

In the last 30 years he has operated on some 5,000 persons. Among them were the late U. S. president—she had her face lifted—and scores of society, theatrical and movie celebrities.

Dr. Pollock is something of a Broadway notable himself. He went from being a lobbyist to a medical school to learn the art of how to bob noses, ears and bosoms, he worked as an entertainment booking agent. Many of his old clients later became his patients.

Considerable Change

The science of plastic surgery has undergone significant change in three decades. At present it is a mushrooming branch of medicine, allied in some ways to psychiatry.

"When I began there were only a handful in the field," recalled Dr. Pollock. "Now there are more plastic surgeons than you can count."

Used to be a hush-hush matter, done in strictest privacy. People were ashamed to admit they wanted to try to improve on the face that their parents—or life—had given them.

Today, however, it's brag about it. They even throw cocktail parties to unveil their new nose.

And the patients are no longer merely the idle wealthy, seeking to hide the lines of age. Most are "foolish luxury."

"Plastic surgery isn't a foolish luxury," said Dr. Pollock. "It is an economic investment. It isn't just their face changed. Lawyers, entertainers, schoolteachers, beauty parlor operators, salesgirls, waitresses—any people who meet the public—find their incomes suffer from facial defects. So they have them removed."

"The improvement of their features also helps them in personality ways. They lose lifelong feelings of inferiority and regain self-confidence."

The feature most people find fault with about their anatomy is the nose. Then come the ears—too much like Peter Rabbit or a pair of swinging doors. And the eyes, which are wrinkles, oversized bosoms and wank chin.

Paraffin Abandoned

Paraffin was abandoned years ago as a substance stuffing to hold out wrinkles. Doctors found it didn't hold and could collect in lumps beneath the skin. And it was an inept agent of malignant growths.

One of the great developments in plastic surgery has been the creation of the "facial defect." Dr. Pollock rejected an 81-year-old woman who wanted her face lifted. Her age made the operation too risky for any benefits she would gain.

Threw Him Out

One of his oldest callers, was a handsome young man who came to him shortly after the death of Lon Chaney, the movie "horror man."

"He had a suitcase stuffed with hundreds of Chaney's pictures," said Dr. Pollock. "He wanted me to operate on him so he would look like a composite of Chaney in all his grotesque roles."

"I threw him out. Then I threw out his suitcase."

Negotiations Broken Off

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 20.—(AP)—Negotiations for ending the month-old shut-down at the Bend Aviation Corporation plant have been broken off indefinitely. Officials of the striking CIO-United Auto Workers said today Richard Gosier, international vice president of the union, said no immediate conferences are planned. But he added union representatives would be willing to talk at meetings at any time. Federal mediators met with both parties last night.

Meanwhile, ten trucks moved into the Bend plant to take out brake dies and parts of two automotive manufacturers—Nash and Willys. They were escorted by pickets who yesterday encircled the plant to block entrance to the plant.

Smith-Cotton Commencement Address by W. M. E. Seelen

Following is the commencement address delivered to the graduates of Smith-Cotton high school, in the school auditorium, Thursday night by William E. Seelen, who was graduated from the school in 1933, has his master's degree in public speaking from the University of Missouri, and has studied almost completed for a doctor's degree.

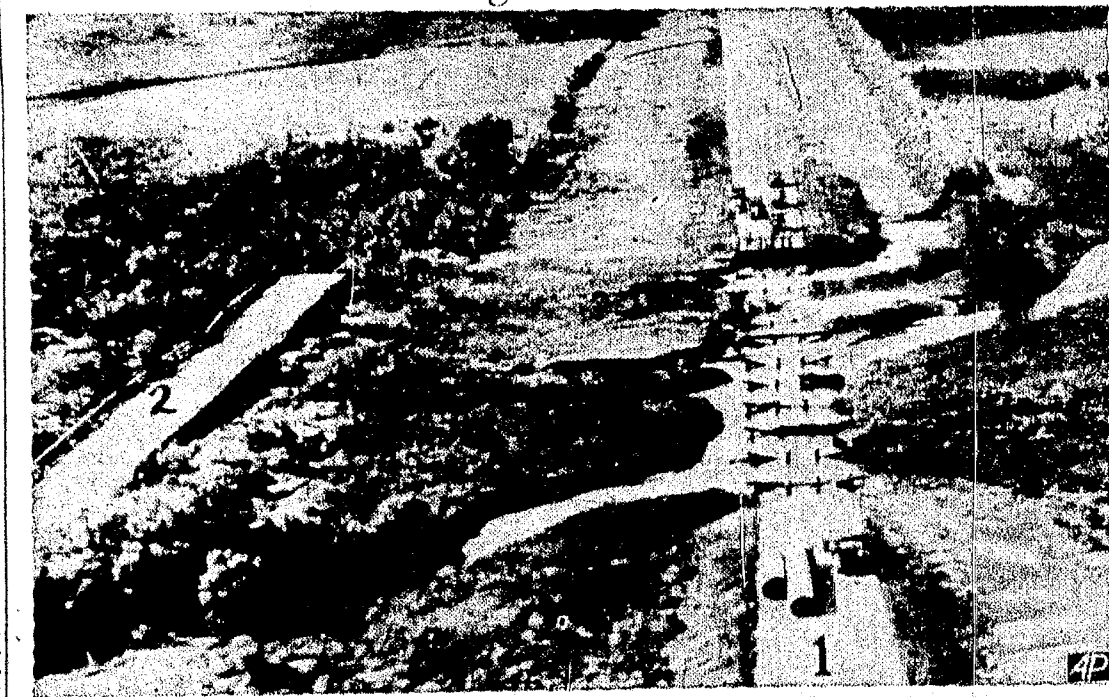

"As far as I know no graduating senior has ever requested, much less insisted upon, a commencement address. However, in spite of the lack of popular clamor or on the part of the graduating class, the commencement address has become through tradition a kind of necessary incumbrance at such events. Tonight I have some twenty minutes or so during which those who invited me to speak hope I shall say something that will be of some value as you prepare to enter a world which Henry James once described as 'a great big, blooming, buzzing confusion.' Just for fun I recently cornered some half dozen or so members of my own graduating class and asked them a few questions about our commencement exercises. To my complete lack of surprise none of them could remember the name of the commencement speaker, nor could they recall what he had talked about.

"But even though I do not assign any measure of immortality to this talk with you tonight, I do want you to know that I felt genuinely flattered when I was invited to be here with you. You folks have distinguished yourselves as individuals and as a class. Your parents must be very proud of you and certainly they have every right to be. Let one of our major goals in life be to conduct yourself so that you may always be a credit to them.

"And now I think that I shall begin by telling you what I am not going to tell you. I am not going to even hint that the non-school world will smother you with love, even embrace you, because it won't. I am not going to suggest that your diploma is a passport to security, because it isn't. I am not going to tell you that science, industry, and agriculture have been looking forward to your graduation, because that hasn't been the case at all. I am not going to tell you that the world owes you a living, because it doesn't. Tomorrow may be the day after graduation for most of you, but for the rest of the world it will just be Friday, May the 20th.

"Oh, I know how many of your friends will say to you: John, or Mary, as the case may be, you generation will be running the country in a few years. We old fogies who run things now are in a rut, and we need young people with young ideas. But listen John, and listen Mary, after your graduation you should go to work beside this same well-wisher, and if your young ideas should happen to produce a more efficient way of doing his job, then you will probably become, as far as he is concerned, just so much economic competition, and instead of being needed you may find yourself looked upon as being just another young upstart with a lot of theoretical ideas that won't work out in practice.

"Please don't accuse me of being cynical when I am just trying to be realistic. I have said that society will accept you with indifference, but I haven't said that you aren't needed. I have suggested that the world doesn't owe you much of anything, but I haven't said that you don't owe the world anything. On the contrary the world needs you very much and perhaps I would not be too far wrong if I should say that the world as you and I know it simply can't survive much longer without a powerful dose of what you have to offer. And what does the world need. Everyone has his own ideas on that, and no two people would agree, but it seems to me that the world needs two things: it needs Christians and it needs leaders. Perhaps that is just another way of saying that the world needs educated people.

"Sometimes as we look around us we wonder what new horizons remain for us to conquer. Man's accomplishments have been so wonderful that it almost seems true that there is nothing new under the sun. Land, for instance, that was once so poor and parched that it wouldn't produce a crop of weeds, has, through proper cultivation, fertilization, irrigation, and the application of other principles of scientific agriculture, been made to grow highly profitable crops, and the selective breeding of livestock has produced production records that once would have sounded like Paul Bunyon tales. Man has built an airplane that will travel faster than sound and he has constructed a building so tall that you cannot see the top on a cloudy day. Last summer I went to see a television set, and there in front of one of the screens stood an elderly couple, their daughter who must have been in her thirties, and her small son. Three generations in the same family—all of them experiencing the thrill of television for the first time. I couldn't help but wonder what there would be some 60 or 70 years from then for that boy and his grandchildren to look at together for the first time.

"But man with his television, his wireless, his jet propulsion, has never solved the secret of how to get along with his fellow men. Man has built a bridge across the Mississippi a mile long that should still be standing a hundred years from now, but man has never built a foundation for world peace that would last a generation. Americans are suspicious of other nations, and other nations are suspicious of America. The Jew feels the sting of anti-semitism and the Negro, the Mexican, the Italian, the Indian and many others find in America under the cloud of racial prejudice, organized labor, and the economic ills of the nation on management and management replies that the unions are ruining the country. There are both Democrats and Republicans who believe that if you vote for the other party you have lost all chance of ever entering the country. Yet all of us, in this country worship the same God, and acknowledge a Bible that tells us to love our neighbor.

"When I say the world needs Christians I don't mean lip-service Christians or Sunday morning Christians; I mean Christians who practice Christianity in their dealings with their fellow men. There are two beliefs you must never lose: Your belief in God and your belief in democracy. You cannot reconcile prejudice or intolerance with either belief. Once you have lost your ability to look at a problem from the other fellow's point of view you have lost your ability to reason. As high school graduates you are free, relatively speaking, from many of the prejudices that blight the thinking of so many of your elders, because educated people and intolerance simply don't thrive in the same climate.

"Have you ever stopped to think that for the most part the people the topics of conversation, the subjects in school, etc., that you don't care much for are the ones you know the least about. Don't you have a close friend, perhaps several, that you didn't like at first. After your first date with Joe you said to the other girls: 'Boy, is that Joe a drip.' But after a few dates, Joe began to grow on you and maybe now he's the number one boy. Love and hate may be opposite emotions but the line that divides them is ever

House Group Rebukes Army

Medal to Aide Of President Be 'On Ice' For Time

WASHINGTON, May 20—(AP)—With a stern rebuke to the army, a house group refused Thursday to let President Truman's military aide wear his controversial medal from dictator Peron's Argentina.

If Washington generals don't have anything more important to do than worry about medals then they ought to be "sent out with the troops," said Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House armed services committee.

At Vinson's suggestion, a subcommittee voted unanimously to keep Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan's medal on ice indefinitely. It did so by tabling a bill to let 87 army officers accept 93 awards from 20 foreign governments.

When Vaughan was awarded the medal Feb. 4 at the Argentine embassy, it brought a campaign of criticism from columnist Drew Pearson. Mr. Truman rushed to Vaughan's defense saying he was not going to fire any of his official family because some one makes a "smart aleck" statement on the radio.

Decorations To Others Fifteen other army officers have been awarded the decoration, the Order of the Liberator General San Martin, from Argentina. All were included in the tabling bill. Under the law foreign medals are kept in the state department until Congress gives the recipients authority to wear them.

Vinson took the army to task for bringing up the bill "in these busy times of bad deal legislation, new deal legislation and mandate legislation." If those people down at the army department don't have anything more to do than this, maybe talked long enough. You are anxious to get at those things on the table and what right have I to hold you up any longer. You don't have to remember what I have said. High school examinations are over. Tonight you get kicked out of the nest. I hope that you will always enjoy good fortune and happiness. And in the event that you do want to remember any part of my remarks, remember that I have said the world needs Christians and leaders. If you want your presence to be of some worth to society then be alive to your environment, keep yourself informed on what is happening in the world, exercise your duty and privilege of voting with regularity, and step across the line now and then to accept your share of civic and social responsibility. And finally, whether your religion may accept his existence or not, in your dealings with your neighbor, regardless of his position in life, I hope that, fearing God and no one else, you will follow the teachings of Jesus Christ."

Face Lifting For Old Tavern

ARROW ROCK, Mo., May 20—(AP)—Arrow Rock Tavern, famed inn on the old Santa Fe Trail, is having its face lifted.

A new roof of asbestos and copper is being put over the entire structure. The outside of the inn and the adjoining buildings, including the seminary and the home of Carlos Bingham are being painted white. Porches of the inn are being rebuilt and a new sidewalk in front of the place is to be laid.

The tavern, used continuously as an eating place since 1830, is being restored with funds from a state appropriation. It is under jurisdiction of the state park board.

Additional equipment in the park includes swings for the children and new benches and tables for picnickers.

Beginning July 1, work will begin on the interior of the tavern. It will be repainted and redecorated, the walls reinforced and the original floor braced and redressed.

"We had better send all of them out with troops again," Vinson said no harm will be done by letting the medals stay in the state department a while longer. Perhaps the bill can be brought up next year, he added.

The committee was told that the decoration given Vaughan also had been awarded General Omar Bradley, army chief of staff, and other generals as well as officers of rank as low as major.

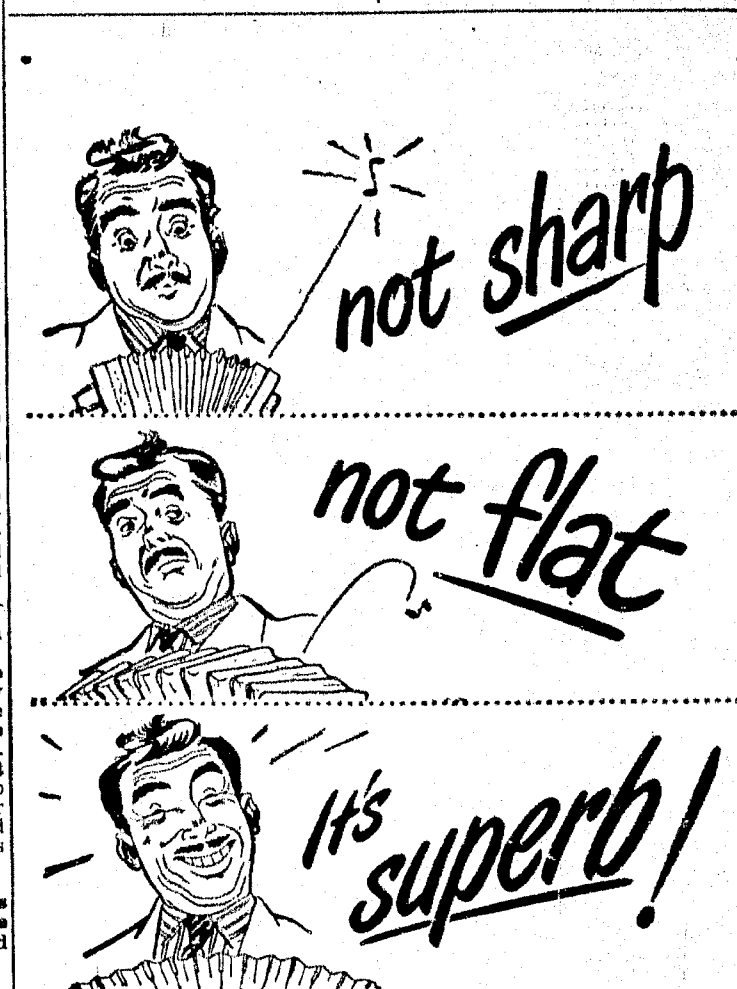

The town of Medora, N. D., was founded by a Frenchman, the Marquis de Mores, who named the site after his wife.

Okla. A. & M. Wants to Join The Big Seven
Aggies Want to Play Big Seven Schools, if Accepted or Not
 By Skipper Patrick
 LINCOLN, Neb., May 20—(AP)—Oklahoma A&M wants in the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, commonly known as the Big Seven conference.
 That's why Dean C. H. McElroy, chairman of the Aggies faculty committee, and athletic director Henry (Hank) Iba were attending the Big Seven's faculty committee meeting here today.
 There was considerable speculation about that some action would be taken on the Oklahoma A&M bid for membership in the conference. Both McElroy and Iba were here by invitation.
 "We want to become a member of the Big Seven," said McElroy, in a nodding agreement. "We have the athletic program and facilities. We can meet an eligibility requirement. We welcome the investigation of the Big Seven committee."
 Iba commented that it was the desire of A&M to become a mem-

Rain Washed Out Two Games
 By The Associated Press
 The wind and the rain got into almost everybody's hair in the American association last night, washing out two games and halting the second round of a double-header after Columbus edged out pace-setting St. Paul, 2 to 1 in the opener.
 In the only other game played, third place Minneapolis ripped Louisville 4 to 1, and turned the Colonels into the association cellar.
 Bad weather stopped Milwaukee at Toledo and Kansas City at Indianapolis.
 Ellis Deal one time Louisville right-hander who was making his debut as a Columbus pitcher, allowed St. Paul only three hits in hurling the Colonels to an eight-inning triumph. The game was postponed for seven innings. The second game was postponed when the clouds opened up. Bill Howerton's double and Mel McGaha's winning run in the last of the eighth.
 Minneapolis' pitcher Otis Clark held Louisville to four hits, while his mates collected eight off the Louisville pitcher, who was called for a balk in the ninth, breaking a 1-1 deadlock.
 Today's games and probable pitchers:
 Kansas City (Madison at Indianapolis) (Johnson) night.
 St. Louis (Hines at Haugstad) at Columbus (Bryant) night.
 Milwaukee (Epperly) at Toledo (unavailable) night.
 Minneapolis (unavailable) at Louisville (unavailable) night.

Will Discuss Sanity Code at Meeting
 BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 20—(AP)—The Southern intercollegiate conference coaches tomorrow will consider proposals which may take the deep south schools out of the National Collegiate Athletic association.
 The issue is the NCAA sanity code, which outlawed aid to college students solely because of their athletic ability.
 Coaches will discuss four possible changes in present rules. All would permit financial help for athletes.
 The coaches also will discuss what might happen to the SEC if it withdraws from the NCAA. The latter adopted the sanity code in January, 1948, and applied it to its 400 college members.
 Official conference action may come at a May 28 meeting in Atlanta. That is the date of the joint session with the Southern and Southwest conferences.
 The announced purpose of the meeting is to discuss the sanity code. Written announcements to SEC officials include a topic to be discussed: "Can the conference withdraw (from NCAA) and combine and successfully conduct an athletic program?"
K-O-M League Games Were Postponed Thursday
 By The Associated Press
 Rain was the only winner in the K-O-M league last night. Wet grounds and showers caused postponement of all four games.
 The teams change opponents tonight with Ponca City at Carthage, Pittsburg at Independence, Miami at Bartlesville and Jola at Chanute.

Paintful Coincidence
 Early this season when Duke's baseball team visited Clemons Carol Cox of the home team hit two home runs in one inning. . . . Later Georgia came along and Eli Marich of the visiting team performed the same feat. . . . Then it was South Carolina vs. Clemons and Ray Mathews did it again for Clemons — two homers in one inning. . . . The oddity is that all three of the double-clousters Cox, Marich and Mathews, are left handed in baseball.
 Those guys weren't just hitting the pitches, they must have been intercepting them.
Sports Before Your Eyes
 Publicity on the pro tennis championships at Forest Hills next month is needing Jack Kramer, whose ability hasn't been remembered. Last handout hints that Jack is ducking the tough competition. . . . Observers at Notre Dame's spring football sessions report Frank Leahy doesn't have as much squad depth as usual, but he has a heck of a first club. . . . One of the best baseball prospects in the Southeastern conference is Mississippi State's second baseman, Jimmy Bragan. He's a big brother of ex-Dodger Bobby, who manages the Port of New York.
 A whole lot of Pete Mendy's Lehigh, Ark., neighbors came here by bus to see Pete fight Robert Villanah tonight. After the 1200 mile ride, they figured they'd taken more punishment than the fighters.

Sport Roundup
 By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
 NEW YORK, May 20—(AP)—A "long range tip" offered to this dept. says the all-America Football conference will be back with eight clubs for the 1950 season.
 No word as to where the eighth is coming from — or why.
 Virgil Jackson, who coached Bob Mathias, has resigned his post at Tulare, Calif., high school. Suppose he could be peeved because he wasn't getting a material he was accustomed to.
 Col. Earl Holt, whose Oak Ridge, N. C., military academy prepped Wes Ferrell and a few others for major league baseball, has come up with another fine prospect. He is Billy Joe Davidson, a 16-year-old, 218-pound fast ball pitcher.
 The shoulder pain which caused Ike Williams to postpone his 7½ percent title match against Enrique Bolanos, came along while he was at dinner. Must have been a heavy meal.

Tenth Loss In 14 Games For Cards
 Before 21,000 Fans The Score Ended 2-0 For Brooklyn
 By The Associated Press
 A St. Louis crowd just under 21,000 turned out last night to see what the Cardinals could do with the Brooklyn Dodgers, which was nothing.
 The score was 2 to 0. Stan Musial, wrong all these weeks, was right again with three hits out of four times at bat, and Howard Pollet held the Brooks to six hits while the Redbirds collected eight, but those two features were not enough to avoid the shutout.
 So it was the third straight loss for the Cards, and their tenth loss in 14 games, leaving them just half a game up from last in the National league.
 Preacher Roe, an ex-Cardinal southpaw, did the job for Brooklyn, handing out nothing but singles. Two of the Brooklyn hits were doubles by Roy Campanella and Peeewe Reese.
 It was Pollet's first complete game of the season.
 Reese opened the game with a single and Miller McCormick followed suit. They worked a double steal, and Reese scored as Shortstop Marly Marion threw out Jackie Robinson. Three Cardinals hits in the first netted nothing.
 Pollet had retired ten straight batters when Campanella doubled in the fifth. He advanced on an infield out and scored on a long fly.
 They have another game tonight.
 The Browns, idle yesterday, play at Washington tonight.

Muskogee Lost To St. Joseph
 By The Associated Press
 Muskogee Reds have lost their first home game of the season and also lost a chance at a Western Association standing.
 The Reds suffered a loss to Topeka last night, when the Owls took a 4 to 3 decision. The Owls' winning spurge came in the eighth inning when centerfielder Jim Reaugh tripled to bring Jerry Nemitz and Adam Swierzyński home with the winning scores.
 At Port Smith, the Giants took their third straight win over Joplin by a score of 5-2. Catcher Dan Mathews led the Giant hitting attack with a double and

Detroit Rates High Among Teams of 1949

New Manager Has His Tigers in Second Place
 By Jack Hand
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)
 Red Rolfe is winning his spurs as a successful big league manager at Detroit.
 The ex-New York Yankee third baseman who never managed any professional team until this spring has his Tigers in second place, only two games behind the Yankees.
 Washington, Cincinnati and the Chicago White Sox have been stealing the big black print in the newspapers, but Detroit rates high among the surprise teams of 1949.
 They laughed at Rolfe last March in Lakeland, Fla., when he said he was taking dead aim at the American league pennant.
 Despite weakness at first and second base, Rolfe maneuvered the Tigers into a commanding position on the hitting of George Kell, Vic Wertz and rookie Johnny Groth. He plugged the second base hole by acquiring Don Kolloway from the White Sox. Recently he benched Geo. Vico and started playing Paul Campbell at first. It worked.
 Rolfe set up a pitching Big Four of Hal Newhouser (4-2), Virgil Trucks (5-1), Ted Gray (3-1) and Freddie Hutchinson (2-2).
 Hutchinson, who turned back Washington with seven hits yesterday, is as handy with the bat as he is on the mound. Hutch drove in three runs with a single, double and triple. Not even three hits by first baseman Eddie Robinson could save Washington.
 Detroit picked up a full game on the Yankees, who were dropped by Cleveland 3-2. Larry Doby, the Indians' Negro outfielder, smashed a 450-foot-plus homer—as Steve Gromek shaded Bob Porterfield.
